

Contact: Tom McIntire
Filmmaker
206 851 9503 mobile

twojulias@gmail.com
3110 W Government Way
Seattle, WA 98199

smilingzombie.com/2j

Press Release

“two julias”, the timely story of a collision between online dating and unwarranted surveillance, premieres at Cleveland’s Indie Gathering August 3, 2008

Narrative short film examines whether love really is a crime...

Seattle, WA: The Indie Gathering in Cleveland screens the U.S. premiere of the award-winning narrative short two julias as part of its 2008 line-up.

Counter-terrorism Agent Frank Armstrong has a problem - his girlfriend Lillian is obsessed with spying on single women. Thanks to the U.S. Patriot Act, what pleases Lil, pleases Frank. Watched by suspicious agents from around the world, Frank and Lillian kick their spying up a notch with Julia Carter. Julia's first meeting with Dave, supposedly single Seattle salesman, will be a little coffee and conversation. Frank and Lillian turn the awkward first date upside down, but the clock is ticking. Featuring talent from four continents, dialogue in 7 languages (subtitled in English) and music in 3 languages, this timely short packs politics, lust, danger and twisted love into 17 minutes. If you like a skillfully weaved brain tickler for a film, do not miss this premiere!

two julias, a narrative short film that examines whether love really is a crime, is the seventh short film from Tom McIntire. two julias was a director's pick and won Honorable Mention at the 2008 ReelHeART International Film Festival (RHIFF) in Toronto. Break a heart in 7 languages with two julias, screening Sunday August 3 at 5:40 pm at Holiday Inn Westlake Ohio (West Cleveland), 1100 Crocker Road, Westlake Ohio 44145. Advance Ticket Sales available through theindiegathering.com

For Release 9 a.m. PDT, July 16, 2008